Make us a city, Ma'am

The Queen is coming to town – and we've written to ask her to finally confer city status on Milton Keynes

THE Queen is coming to Milton Keynes and today this newspaper calls on her to officially make us a city.

The royal visit will take place on Thursday, November 29.

Along with her husband the Duke of Edinburgh, she is expected to officially open the new residential, retail and office development thehub:mk and the MK Dons stadium as well as visit the Nigel Mobbs St John Ambulance Centre in Greenleys.

MK NEWS has taken the step of writing an open letter to the Queen on behalf of the people of Milton Keynes calling on her to finally grant us city status.

On Monday, journalist Rob Gibson hand delivered the letter to the Queen's official residence at Buckingham Palace.

The letter was delivered to one of the Queen's footmen, David Grimson, who confirmed it would be passed on to the monarch.

If the Queen does decide to make Milton Keynes a city to coincide with her visit, it will be the icing on the cake in its 40th anniversary year.

City status is a rare honour granted by the monarch on the advice of the Lord Chancellor and is normally reserved for special royal occasions.

Milton Keynes has one of the largest urban populations in the country still not recognised as a city and it is a common myth that in order to become a city the town needs a cathedral.

In fact, according to guidelines outlined by the Department for Constitutional Affairs, towns known to be interested in applying for city status need to fulfill certain main factors.

These include their significance both regionally and historically and indications of them showing a forward-looking attitude.

Attempts in 2000 and 2002 to gain city status ended in disappointment.

In 2000 Brighton and Hove and Wolverhampton were winners while in 2002, to tie in with the Queen's Golden Jubilee, it was Preston which pipped Milton Keynes to the post.

There are officially 66 cities in the United Kingdom, 50 in England.

The Queen last visited Milton keynes on March 13, 1992.

The visit this time has been kept under wraps for several weeks for security reasons and the itinerary has still to be completely rubber stamped but MK NEWS understands the stadium event will take the form of a spectacular show complete with a performance by thousands of primary school children, specially commissioned music and bands and will be watched by a capacity crowd on the day.

Nasty shock for award winning chip shop boss

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

Stable: Chip shop owner Stephen Wilding is recovering in hospital

THE owner of an award winning fish and chip shop was electrocuted while he worked.

Paramedics, firefighters and police all rushed to Broughton Fish and Chips on Tanfield Lane just before 2pm on Saturday when the incident occured.

Stephen Wilding was left unconscious by the massive surge of electricity that ran through his body.

He regained consciousness at the scene and was taken by ambulance to Milton Keynes Hospital. Firefighters isolated the electricity supply.

Initially his condition was described as critical, but he is now stable.

It is not yet known exactly what Mr Wilding was doing when he received the electric shock. But council officers have prohibited the use of some of the equipment and the shop remains closed.

The incident has been reported to the Health and Safety Executive.

Liverpudlian Mr Wilding ,who was in his 40s, and his wife Deborah took over the shop on the new estate in April this year.

They won the Seafish Friers Quality Award for exceptional standards in food quality and hygiene just four months after.

Environmental health officers from Milton Keynes Council attended the shop on Saturday afternoon.

A spokesman said: "We were called out to this premises on Saturday afternoon after the police alerted us that the owner had suffered a serious electrical shock. We are now investigating and still trying to ascertain the specific cause. To this end we have prohibited the use of some electrical equipment in the shop.

"We understand this fish and chip shop is currently closed."

Police cordoned off the chip shop for several hours.

MK cops 'disappointed' with 'fair' rating for local policing

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

POLICE in Milton Keynes are 'disappointed' with the results of the annual Police Performance Assessment.

Her Majesty's Inspectorate of Constabulary (HCID) published its third annual assessment for all 43 forces in England and Wales yesterday, including the performance of Thames Valley Police for 2006/7.

While areas such as 'serious crime and public protection' received a 'good' rating, local priorities were rated as 'poor'.

It also showed that the performance for tackling crime was deteriorating and overall recorded crime increased by 4.9 per cent.

The force issued a statement underlining that it was disappointed with the 'fair' rating received for neighbourhood policing.

It said: "The force is pleased with the good ratings in tackling serious crime, protecting the public and how we use resources, but disappointed with some of the other grades awarded.

"With the full support of the Police Authority we have prioritised the roll out Neighbourhood Policing across Thames Valley and we are on target to achieve this goal by next April.

"The fair grade does not do justice to the hard work of our local policing teams or reflect the positive feedback we have received from local communities.

"We will look carefully at the reasons behind this grading and if changes are needed they will be made quickly."

The report is part of an ongoing commitment by the Police and Crime Standards Directorate of the Home Office and the HCID to provide the public with clear assessments of police performance in their community.

Thames Valley Police Authority chair Christine Weston said: "I am disappointed by our rating of poor in local priorities.

"I feel it fails to recognise the work we have done on neighbourhood policing.

"This was the first year this area has been assessed and following advice from the Home Office, we set ourselves extremely tough targets.

"Along with ten other forces, Thames Valley Police failed to hit those targets, but we have already started work to ensure we will improve in this area next year."

According to Thames Valley Police, crime has fallen by six per cent so far in the current year.

Beanhill's back!

Estate pushes out Netherfield to top the 'worst place to live in MK' table

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

IT'S the news all residents have been waiting for – Beanhill is the worst estate in Milton Keynes.

The top 20 worst estates league table for 2007, compiled by Milton Keynes Council, causes controversy and comment every year it is revealed.

We anticipate nothing different this year so we are asking readers to let us know what you think of the table and whether your estate deserves its place or not.

Beanhill and Netherfield switched places from last year's league table, it's the fourth year they have made up the top two.

Coming in in third place this year is Granby, up nine places from last year; in fourth place is Fishermead, up four places; and in fifth place is New Bradwell, up five places.

This is the fifth time that MK NEWS has printed the table of worst estates. The figures come from the council's so-called Social Atlas which measures the estates on their 'social difficulties' such as teenage pregancies, people claiming benefits, crime levels, neighbour complaints and educational attainment.

Last year Water Eaton residents were in uproar because the council grouped the Lakes Estate and Water Eaton as one place.

Town Councillor Shirley Rolfe ,of Hunter Drive, was forced to apologise after she accused people from the Lakes Estate of not working.

The council has once again categorised the areas together.

But its ranking has improved, coming ninth in the league table after being crowned the sixth worst estate in 2006.

Difficulties in Stantonbury and Eaglestone increased, moving them both up seven places and putting them in 15th and 16th place.

Stacey Bushes and Tinkers Bridge both slid down the table stopping in 11th and 14th place respectively, instead of third and seventh place.

Figures for the whole of Milton Keynes show that teenage pregnancy rates, life expectancy, overall crime rates, and road casualties and deaths are worse than the national averages.

Eaton Manor ward is in the most deprived 10 per cent in the whole country as far as education, skills and training are concerned.

Cllr Euan Henderson, who has responsibility for social inclusion, said: "The real issue is that the Social Atlas presents the relative position of estates.

"It doesn't actually tell us that Beanhill and Netherfield still have as many problems as before.

"I'm concerned that we introduce a new measure of what people think themselves of the circumstances they're living in.

"The gap between expected life years on different estates has narrowed considerably. The difference was 12 years a year ago, now it's down to nine."

■ What do you think about the league table and your estate's placing on it. The best views will be published next week. E-mail the newsdesk at: editor@mk-news.co.uk

Outdated council planning notices

SIR – I have just read the piece in today's paper (October 3) about someone being prosecuted for fly-posting.

While I accept that it is sometimes unsightly, what about all the outdated planning application notices that we see all over the city area?

Some are as much as three years out of date and still in place.

Do the powers-that-be consider that this is acceptable but other people's adverts not?

Do you think the council should prosecute itself?

Bill Watson
Newport Pagnell

Stamp duty idea a step in the wrong direction

SIR – I was intrigued by Mark Lancaster's assertion that removing stamp duty for first-time buyers would improve access to affordable housing.

If every first time buyer has more money to spend, then house prices are going to increase by a corresponding amount, making the situation worse, not better.

It's the simple economics of supply and demand.

The only way to make housing more affordable is to increase the supply by building more – something the Government has got the message on and from which Milton Keynes benefits more than most.

You can help first time buyers directly, the shared ownership and shared equity schemes that the Government has introduced are good examples of this, but a stamp duty cut is a simplistic and ineffectual suggestion – nothing more than a good headline.

'Consultation' asking the wrong questions

SIR – I write with regard to the Council's Budget Consultation Questionnaire published in MK News last week.

I have completed the questionnaire online but would like to add some further comments.

I have passed my comments on to the appropriate council staff but feel, as it was in your newspaper that I first saw the questionnaire, I feel it appropriate to write to you also.

I am disappointed that part one of the questionnaire refers only to spending. This section gives the impression that the only way to improve a service is through extra spending.

This is not true. As a former public sector employee (London Borough of Brent), a senior manager in private companies and now managing director of my own business, I know that it is possible to improve products, services and provision of these without necessarily increasing spending (indeed sometimes by actually reducing costs).

The correct answer to the straightforward question whether anyone should be spending more, the same or less on any given service is always less.

A better question, in my opinion, would be to ask the priority in which people would prefer to see money spent. This could perhaps be coupled with a question about spending levels.

Spending money is not the answer to solving problems – it is certainly part of the answer, but not as large a part as suggested by the questionnaire.

For the purpose of clarity, my priorities are to see the council maintain at least the same level of provision in all services, while ensuring that these are delivered at the lowest possible cost – not to be confused with any of spending more, the same or less.

The second section of the questionnaire seems to indicate that council tax will rise next year regardless of the responses.

I appreciate the need to make people aware that the council cannot always continue providing the same levels of service for a fixed cost year after year and that being tied to a commitment of no council tax increases may result in some cutbacks but I feel that this question reinforces the impression created in the first section.

The correct answer in this instance is that is very important that the council should be striving to improve current levels of service, but raising council tax should only be a measure of last resort.

I do not believe, therefore, that this is a consultation that can have any real influence on key budget decisions.

It appears that this may well be a 'consultation exercise' where the final course of action has already been determined and the questionnaire has merely been issued to provide the impression of incorporating feedback into decisions – something that is disappointing, not to mention a profligate, use of scarce resources.

From my everyday experience, Milton Keynes Council is probably the best-run and efficient local authority in which I have lived.

I have had no reason for complaint for the three years I have lived here and, indeed, a number of reasons for providing positive feedback.

This makes this questionnaire and the impression it has created doubly disappointing.

Eardley Place, Grange Farm

Take action to help our armed forces injured

SIR – Do you remember what the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month means?

It is the time when the nation remembers all those who have sacrificed their lives during wars and conflicts.

This year the occasion falls on Remembrance Sunday, November 11 and throughout the borough, at various venues, people will be congregating and laying wreaths at War Memorials to honour our dead.

Traditionally the nation has observed a two-minute silence and I would urge everyone to make the effort to take part in this mark of respect for our dead.

The poppy is the emblem of the Royal British Legion and the amount donated increases every year which proves that we care for those surviving members of the armed forces and their families.

Please buy a poppy and wear it with pride.

Members of all three services currently involved in conflicts in different parts of the world are also in need of our help.

They are giving their lives for this country, but what is the country giving them in return ?

I urge you to write to your local MP and ask them to encourage the Government to support the Royal British Legion's Covenant campaign.

This covenant is designed to ensure that injured service personnel are given the medical treatment and aftercare that they deserve and that 'red tape' is removed, or greatly reduced, for bereaved families.

If you would like to know more, or how you can help, please go to www.thecovenant.org.uk and click on 'Take action'.

Cllr Mike Barry
Mayor of Milton Keynes

Twitchy over microlights

SIR – I always thought microlight planes a nuisance, hanging noisily with their falcon-like shape over the lakes where I do my bird-watching.

Still, I admire and, sometimes, even envy the gallant aces who fly them.

Now, however, they've been enlisted to spy on us ('Cops' spy in the sky' – front page last week).

Now even someone trying to escape the CCTV cameras and 'dog-end cops' of town with a quiet walk in the fields can be harassed and judged a potential criminal.

Who are these self-important busybodies – the Sky Watch Auxiliary Air Service?

How much free fuel are they getting to report such lawless activities as gathering wood for bonfires on council property?

There is great concern about these multiplying forms of surveillance, from CCTV (one camera for every 17 people), roadside finger-printing, wheelie-bin spies and the bloated DNA database to ID cards.

The police increasingly use robot camera planes – even to spy on pop concerts!

Individual measures may sound sensible, but together they amount to a police state.

Therefore I am pledged to resist. The next pilot to disturb my bird-watching will be pecked to death on my instructions.

Join the trust and have a say on your hospital

SIR – Would your readers like to air their views on local NHS services?

Over the coming weeks everyone in Milton Keynes will have the chance to take part in the Government's NHS review – Our NHS, Our Future – which is a major assessment of the way the NHS delivers patient care ahead of its 60th anniversary.

The wide-ranging review will identify the way forward for the NHS for the next decade and beyond.

It is vital that local people, who are well placed to know what needs to happen to meet patients' needs regionally, are at the centre of the debate.

The future of the health service needs to include the voices of those with a real interest in the well-being of the hospital, and the users of our services.

Our NHS, Our Future is about giving you the opportunity to shape the vision for the NHS by making sure it focuses on the things that really matter.

Your views are important as they will not only feed in to the national picture, but will also be used to build a picture of the key issues for the NHS locally.

Have your say today, by visiting http://www.ournhs.nhs.uk

Of course, this is not the only way that Milton Keynes citizens can voice their views on their hospital.

Milton Keynes Hospital recently received foundation trust status, which means that local people can now join as members.

By joining you will be regularly informed about trust developments and have the chance to have your say in the running of the hospital by representing local views by becoming and/or electing people to the members' council.

This is made up of locally representatives, staff and local partner organisations.

Anyone interested in getting involved in the future development of the hospital should visit http://www.mkhospital.nhs.uk

No decision on future of old hockey stadium

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

THE future of the National Hockey Stadium remains uncertain.

Chiefs at regeneration agency English Partnerships, which owns the stadium, claim they don't know what they will do with it now the MK Dons have moved out.

The 9,000-seater stadium was declared unsuitable as a hockey venue by the National Hockey Foundation in 2007.

English Partnerships acquired the site, which is a prime city centre location, earlier this year but has not yet decided what to do with the venue.

The Dons, then known as Wimbledon FC, moved into the National Hockey Stadium on Silbury Boulevard in September 2003.

But in July this year the club moved into the new Denbigh stadium.

Currently it remains a focal point for business and entertainment in Milton Keynes, offering conference facilities for up to 450 delegates in a variety of rooms.

England Hockey, the national governing body for the sport, maintains its offices there. The venue also hosts wedding receptions, sportsmen's dinners, charity events and Christmas parties.

Rumours suggest that the stadium will be redeveloped for community use or as residential space.

But a spokesman for English Partnerships said this week: "As part of the long-term strategic growth of Milton Keynes, key sites have been acquired by English Partnerships to ensure the new city develops within agreed guidelines.

"The National Hockey Stadium site was acquired for this purpose, however, the use of the site is still under review with EP and no decision has been made about its future at this time."

In May this year the temporary stand and seating installed for MK Dons fans was dismantled and removed.

It's show time for Snowy lookalike

A DOG is hoping for no 'ruff' reviews after taking centre stage last night in the latest production at Milton Keynes Theatre.

City dog Alfie, who belongs to Tracy Greening, was chosen by the producers yesterday to play the part of Tintin's companion Snowy, in Herge's Adventures of Tintin after winning a competition to star in the show.

The show's associate director Tim Welton said: "The competition has been a great success with many local dog owners entering their pets on the show's website.

"What I really loved about the winning dog Alfie was that he not only looked the part, he had such a playful sparkle in his eye which is something we were looking for in our search for Snowy.

"He was also very calm and well behaved among all of today's excitement, which is so important as there will be so much action going on around him when he's on stage."

The show runs until October 13.

Shopping centre attack

SHOPPERS watched as a father was knocked out in front of his 13-year-old son during an unprovoked attack.

The Asian man and his boy were walking past Let's Eat in thecentre:mk when a gang of white men walked past them.

One of the men bumped into the boy before they continued on their way.

A short while later one of the men returned, walked back up to the father and son and confronted them.

He threw the father to the ground, causing him to smash his head on a bench, knocking him unconscious.

The attacker fled the shopping centre with the rest of the gang, while the victim was taken to hospital.

The incident happened just after 5pm on Saturday, September 29 and the victim has now been discharged.

Police have spoken to shoppers who saw the attack and they were told the attacker may be called 'Gav'.

They described the offender as white, 5ft 4ins to 5ft 7ins, aged 20 to 23, with short light brown hair. He wore a blue top, which exposed his chest, and blue jeans.

Anyone with information can contact the police on 08458 505505.

JANE HAMILTON

Our occasional series of columns continues this week with the thoughts of Jane Hamilton, chief operating officer of Milton Keynes Partnership

Sainsbury's tries something new

MILTON Keynes Partnership is now in its third year of operation as the local delivery vehicle for our city, tasked with co-ordinating the planning and delivery of Milton Keynes' future growth.

We continue to oversee an exciting and ambitious programme of work to ensure that the growth-related needs of Milton Keynes are being met, while at the same time creating an environment which our citizens are proud and happy to live and work in.

This year we have seen a huge £62.5 million invested in over 80 projects as we have continued to establish new communities and invest in existing areas across the city.

We work closely with Milton Keynes Council, developers and the public and private sector to encourage innovation and to set exacting standards for development in terms of design and quality.

In addition, on all new developments we specify that at least 30 per cent of the homes should be affordable to help meet the needs of the growing city.

Central Milton Keynes continues to evolve into a successful and increasingly mixed-use city centre with taller buildings and landmark locations appearing on the skyline.

In the south west sector of the city centre, the Sainsbury's development is progressing well and is almost 70 per cent complete.

The store itself will be Sainsbury's largest in Europe. In addition approximately 400 apartments and townhouses (incorporating 30 per cent affordable housing to be managed by Genesis Housing Group) are being built and there will be 500 sq m of community and not-for-profit space.

Construction of Sainsbury's will be complete at the end of 2007, with the interior fit-out taking place after this.

The first residents will be in occupation by the end of the year.

You may also have seen by the big crane that work has begun on the largest office development in Milton Keynes for 25 years.

When completed, Pinnacle MK will provide 200,000 sq m of prestige space overlooking Midsummer Boulevard.

It's a sign of the confidence in our city right now that 40 per cent of the space is already taken.

We've also recognised that new residents will need support in a growing city, so this August Milton Keynes Partnership Committee (MKPC) was asked to support the introduction of a Community Mobiliser Programme.

The programme means there will be a community-based worker to support children, young people and their families and ensure their needs are met when they first arrive.

The community workers will operate in the residential districts at CBX III and the Theatre District.

We are delighted to announce that the first community worker, Manny Stewart, has been appointed so look out for him on his rounds.

We have also seen the Portway and North Grafton Highway improvements running efficiently, these form part of a series of major works across Milton Keynes.

Although we saw some disruption during the course of these works, growth does means some disruption to residents and businesses from time to time in terms of road improvements, new parking and new green spaces.

MKP is therefore working closely with all partners including the council, Highways Agency and the Parks Trust to ensure disruption is kept to a minimum.

Our team will be working hard to keep you informed of all developments in the future.

Please visit: www.miltonkeynespartnership.info for further information on all of our projects.

Neighbour catches rubbish dumpers on camera

Tippers snapped

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

DO you recognise these people?

Milton Keynes Council's Safer Communities unit are keen to trace them after an MK NEWS reader spotted them dumping rubbish onto a public verge in Mullion Place, Fishermead.

A neighbour took these photographs on Monday night at around 5.30pm.

He was amazed to see two people empty the contents of a garage onto the roadside, including a large desk, wardrobe, chairs, paint pots and a petrol can.

The neighbour said: "I couldn't believe it; they were dumping loads of stuff in broad daylight.

"We were scared that someone was going to set light to it and start a fire.

"My mum wanted to stop them but I told her it wasn't worth getting in an argument for.

"We had 15 fires on this small road in just a few years, because cars and rubbish were just abandoned."

He said he called the council yesterday and was told an enforcement officer from the Safer Communities Unit will visit the site tomorrow.

Safer Communities Manager Pete Roberts said: "Fly-tipping is an arrestable offence and we will investigate this case.

"We receive a lot of complaints about fly-tipping in Fishermead but people are often not prepared to give their details so we can follow them up.

"These people could be difficult to trace if they do not live at the property."

The incident comes as the Minister for Waste, Joan Ruddock, urged local authorities to bring themselves up to the level of the best in tackling fly-tipping.

She published new figures that showed Milton Keynes has seen a 35 per cent reduction in fly-tipping incidents in 2006-07 from 3,511 to 2,252.

Ms Ruddock said:"Councils as diverse as Sheffield, Worthing and Milton Keynes are driving down fly-tipping through targeted, concerted action. I want other councils to follow their lead."

Getting cross over crossing

A BRAND new toucan crossing in central Milton Keynes remains unused because there is not enough demand for it – while Stony Stratford residents who are desperate for one are being told it is not possible.

Milton Keynes Partnership (MKP) installed the pedestrian crossing on Silbury Boulevard, but have covered it up with signs saying 'Crossing not in use'.

It is ready for the prospective residents who move into developments at Campbell Park to be built over the next ten years.

Toucan crossings allow pedestrians and cyclists priority according to red and green signals.

But former councillor Paul Bartlett, who has been campaigning for a crossing at Horsefair Green and London Road in Stony Stratford for a decade, says this is unfair.

He said: "I did a little survey by sitting all day on a seat and it was pretty certain in justifying what I was thinking.

"A lot of people use that crossing point, every generation, every sort. Milton Keynes Council said there were not sufficient numbers using it, and that it didn't fit with their criteria.

"Then there is one at Silbury Boulevard which nobody is using. It's being funded by MKP, but they surely have criteria too and it fitted theirs. Why build it now? It's standing there getting rusty, and in a few years time technology will have moved on."

Now he has written to Jane Hamilton at MKP asking for the regeneration agency to install a crossing at Stony Stratford, under the Western Expansion plans and using their own criteria.

A spokesman for MKP said: "Campbell Park is a key part of the growth of Milton Keynes and is being developed over the next ten years to provide some 1,700 housing units, commercial, retail and live-work units and a hotel.

"At every opportunity we are funding growth-related infrastructure in advance of development as this was one of the priorities which all parties in Milton Keynes sought to achieve.

"Toucan crossings have been constructed on Silbury Boulevard and Avebury Boulevard and will be completed shortly.

"The next phase of housing development in the park is due to start imminently and the traffic signals will be in use as soon as there is sufficient demand."

Artist Liisa Clark with her eagle-inspired chamber of commerce award

Where eagles dare

A CITY artist has been rewarded for creating an award.

Liisa Clark runs her own business Abstrakt which creates and supplies unique artwork to inspire, stimulate and invigorate workspaces.

And on Thursday one of her creations will be on show at the MK and North Bucks Chamber of Commerce Business Awards.

The chamber is holding its annual awards at the new Milton Keynes football stadium.

The specially commissioned awards were created by Liisa whose concept for the design is based around the idea of an eagle and was inspired by the name of the chamber's magazine 'Vision'.

She said: "When you think of the eagle and the natural skills they have, you think of their targeted 'vision' and the ability to wait until the right moment to strike with focused precision. The eagle also symbolises power, strength and freedom, all of which encompass the entrepreneurial spirit that drives business in Milton Keynes. The back of the award is an abstract spiral that is based on the wings of the Eagle being open and unfurled, ready to embrace new possibilities and ideas.

"Milton Keynes has also spread its wings overseas and attracted a lot of international commerce. We have in this great city an international community stretching to all corners of the globe. This is why the eagle seemed the perfect concept for the awards".

Irish dancers get in shape Bristol fashion

FOUR city girls are jigging their way to the Emerald Isle to take part in the Irish dancing world championships.

Erin Soden, 11, of New Bradwell, Shannagh Dyer, 11, of Shenley Brook End, Emily Golding, 10, of Middleton and Rebeca Marrero-Mills, 12, of Bletchley, are now in training for the high profile event in Belfast next Easter.

They will be part of a 16-squad dance troupe who'll compete in the under 13s figure team, up against dancers from across the globe including America, Canada, Germany, South Africa, and Ireland.

Erin said: "I'm absolutely thrilled at getting to take part in the world championships.

"I've been dancing for four years now and it's a dream come true. We are all really excited. It's hard work but it will be worth it."

Shannagh Dyer, Rebeca Marrero-Mills, Erin Soden and Emily Golding

The honour means intense training for the girls who must travel to Bristol each weekend to undergo advanced coaching with the rest of their squad.

It is now hoped that they'll be able to attract sponsorship from local companies to help support their training expenses over the next six months.

Their teacher Rose Ellis of the Sean Eireann McMahon Academy of Irish Dancing, said: "It's an enormous achievement for the girls to take part in the world championships, their dancing skills are incredible.

"However it's a huge commitment for the students and their families because it means ensuring the girls take part in training in Bristol every weekend.

"We're hoping some generous local companies will be able to make a donation, no matter how small it all helps."

Their dance school also runs classes from Bristol, Gloucester, West Malvern and Droitwich.

The school is now launching a huge fund raising appeal and has organised an Irish Ceili dance at MK Village Hall on November 10.

Anyone interested in Irish music and dancing is welcome and the girls that are going to the world championships will be putting on a wonderful display.

It is hoped that the fundraising dance will raise £500 and may attract matched funding from local companies.

Tickets for the event can be bought from Ceri Arlett on 07786 752613.

Fifty cops called to club gatecrashers

Late licence curbed and early closing ordered after many ticketholders were denied entry

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

A NIGHTCLUB was shut down in the middle of a huge event after 200 people gatecrashed – literally.

The mob, which was denied entry to Nexus on September 29, grouped together and ran at the doors, breaking them down.

Between 40 and 50 police officers were deployed from Milton Keynes, Buckinghamshire and Oxon to deal with the incident.

Now Milton Keynes Council has granted an application by police to alter the licensing agreement.

At an emergency licensing hearing on Monday night councillors unanimously decided the venue's last sale of alcohol will now be at 1.30am instead of 4am. Its entertainment and trading licence now ends at 2am instead of 5am.

Club management is expected to appeal against the decision, which is short term until a full hearing can be held.

CID officers are still investigating the incident and are monitoring CCTV to see if they can identify offenders.

Promoters had sold 700 tickets to the 850 capacity event at The Point, and were also allowing people to pay on the door.

But after they let too many people in without tickets, between 100 and 200 people who did have tickets were denied entry.

Coaches had brought people from all over the country including London and Manchester.

Police were called to help security staff at 1.30am after the crowd broke the doors down.

Promoters made the decision to close the club just ten minutes later.

A police spokesman said: "The owners stopped the event due to health and safety reasons.

"Because of the large number of people and the large scale of the event, many officers were deployed.

"There was disorder both inside and outside the club. A couple of fights broke out but there were no arrests."

The emergency hearing was called under the new Licensing Act.

Phil Winsor, the council's chief environmental health officer, said: "The committee were told how the the club management didn't have sufficient arrangements in place to control the crowds.

"One of the objectives of the Licensing Act is the prevention of crime and disorder."

Coaches took people back to their home towns at the pre-arranged times.

Nobody was available at the club for comment.

Mobiles stolen in robberies

TWO robbers targeted teenagers in separate attacks.

Their first victim was a 14-year-old boy who was walking home along in Speedwell Place, Conniburrow, at 3.50pm on Friday.

The offenders, two black men wearing hooded sports clothing, pushed him into an alleyway and stole his mobile phone, cash and a PSP games console.

The second robbery happened on the 'trim trail' in Linford Wood at 1pm on Sunday, when a 19-year-old had his mobile stolen.

Learning curves: MK College models at the summer hair fashion show 'Bold & Brave' at Middleton Hall, CMK. This year's hair and beauty courses are fully subscribed

Numbers up at MK College

A RECORD number of young people have signed up for engineering and technology courses at Milton Keynes College.

The department has seen 350 students enrol, a rise of 40 per cent on last year.

College bosses are delighted – principal Rob Badcock said: "It is widely known there is a severe skills shortage in engineering in the UK and here at Milton Keynes College we are pleased to be training the engineers of the future.

"Another area seeing huge growth is our construction department where enrolments are also up by 40 per cent.

"This is fantastic news considering the need locally for more skilled tradesmen and women to cope with the planned building work in the city over the coming years."

Business leaders are lobbying the Government to bring more students into the engineering sector in order for Britain to stay pace with global technology.

In total, full time enrolments of 16 to 18-year-olds at the college have surpassed expectations with a 12 per cent increase on 2006.

There are now 3,000 full-time students at the college and 8,000 part-time.

Hotel and catering has seen a 50 per cent rise in student enrolments while the hair and beauty department is fully subscribed.

Marketing manager Chris Rice said: "Anyone considering coming to college shouldn't be put off by the fact that some courses are full, there are always solutions and other opportunities that can be considered."

A welcome fayre was held at the college last week for those already enlisted on courses. The event involved students getting to know about college life and having an informal chat with their new 'boss' in 'Meet the Principal'.

This year every student has been given a USB memory stick to support them with course work.

Team leader Martine Phillips said: "Technology is so mobile now that we decided this would be a great way for students to store their work and take it with them wherever they go."

Appeal: Toby turns fruit for the day as he helps raise funds for Leukaemia Research. Top: The Bananamen set off

Fund raisers slip into something comfortable for Bananaman Chase

HUNDREDS of MK runners went bananas at Willen Lake when they took part in the Bananaman Chase.

The 10k race, which raised money for Leukaemia Research, had ten people with personal experiences of leukaemia and other blood cancers starting the event dress as the bananas and pace setters, while other participants were challenged to beat the bananas. All entrants received much sought-after Bananaman medals and a race-day T-shirt.

The money raised from the event will go towards Leukaemia Research's challenging goal of committing over £100million to new leading laboratory research and clinical trials with patients over the next five years.

City crime-busters are on the move

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A SCHEME that tackles crime and anti-social behaviour in shopping areas has expanded to the Kingston Centre.

Partners Against Crime (Pac) unites businesses, retailers and the police against the threat of city crime.

The scheme aims to provide a safe and non-threatening environment for people who live, visit and work in Milton Keynes.

It was set up in the city centre five years ago and was expanded to Bletchley last October.

Shop and business owners are provided with a radio system which allows them to keep in touch with each other, to warn of approaching known criminals or people behaving suspiciously.

The partnership also set up an exclusion zone that allows persistent offenders to be banned from premises in the area.

Pac co-ordinator Gail Buckland started the scheme in Kingston three months ago.

Four stores have already joined alongside the centre's security company Central & Shires Ltd.

The shops include Mamas and Papas, Mothercare, Tesco and Next.

"The feedback has been fantastic, the stores are really keen and have given us lots of information," said Miss Buckland.

"It has always been our aim to move out to other areas."

"Next we will look at Westcroft, Wolverton and Stony Stratford."

The Pac members meet regularly to share intelligence and are given advice on theft awareness, counterfeit money and credit card fraud.

Store manager at Mamas and Papas, Bev Baker said: "One of the main reasons we decided to join the scheme was because on the evenings when the girls are in here on their own they feel vulnerable because of people hanging around outside.

"Now they feel secure and are not worried about going to their cars. And If there are any problems in store we can radio security and they come straight away.

"For example if there is an incident where a man is being abusive we can call them and get them to get him out.

"Before we had to do it ourselves.

"The radio system is also great as we know what's going on next door in New Look," she added.

Pac is supported by Reliance Security Services and Thames Valley Police.

The scheme helped secure interim anti-social behaviour orders (Asbos) in October 2005 for ten youths who plagued shoppers in Lloyds Court and the Food Centre in Central Milton Keynes by shouting, swearing, fighting and urinating in public.

It also brought the trial of violent and abusive beggar Emma Tootle, who was consequently banned from the centre of Milton Keynes and given an Asbo in October 2006.

Crime-busters: Stanley Adzahoe of Central & Shires Ltd, police community support officers Julie McPheat and Tony Bach with Gail Buckland of Pac and Mamas and Papas' Keeley Shah

The 34-year-old, from West Bromwich, was treated for injuries after he was cut free from the National Express coach by firefighters on September 3.

He was arrested at the scene on suspicion of drink driving and driving dangerously but was released on bail.

He will return to West Bromwich police station later this month.

Six people were seriously injured and 24 received minor injuries after the incident on the M1 southbound service station slip road.

City folk charity misers

MORE than one third of people in Milton Keynes do not raise money for charity according to new research.

YouGov questioned people from the city and 44 per cent said they did not have enough time to raise money.

The research showed that women are especially time pressured, with half of female respondents stating that lack of time prevents them from raising money for charity.

It also revealed a generation gap in Milton Keynes as over half of young people aged 18 to 24-years-old and 40 per cent of those aged 25 to 34 wish they could raise more money for charity.

Only 22 per cent of those aged 55 and over felt the same.

Bellway Homes offer affordability at The Observatory in Oakley Vale

House builder Bellway is taking a head-on approach to the affordability crisis by launching a new home purchase scheme called Opening Doors. Bellway will offer customers the chance to buy a new home for 80% of the current market value at The Observatory in Oakley Vale.

As an example Opening Doors will enable a purchaser to buy a new £250,000 home today for the cost of interest payable on a £200,000 home. Payment of interests on the remaining 20% is deferred for three years and is treated as an equity loan charged at the low interest rate of 3%.

Commenting on the scheme, Doreen Pate, Sales and Marketing Director at Bellway, said: "We have looked very carefully at how we can improve the financial situation for new home buyers. Opening Doors is unique in the way that it provides 100% ownership but reduces the cost of borrowing in the early years when most new home owners are more financially stretched."

Opening Doors is available on the Swallow house-type at The Observatory. This is a four bedroom detached home with garage. The ground floor has a fitted kitchen/ dining and family room, a spacious front facing lounge and cloakroom.

The first floor consists of two front facing bedrooms accompanied by a master bedroom with en-suite and dressing area facilities. An additional bedroom and bathroom complete this floor.

The Swallow is currently on the market for £245,500. Using Bellway Homes' Opening Doors Initiatives Northants home hunters will be able to purchase the house for just £196,400 and could even be in by Christmas this year.

Oakley Vale is fast becoming the new property hotspot. Located in the Northamptonshire countryside of Rockingham Forest, the development has excellent road links via the A14 to the M1, M6 and A1 making commuting to the major cities easy. Commuters to London can choose from Kettering Station, just 6 miles away, for a regular train service London Euston Station, or equally frequent from Northampton Station to Euston Station and St Pancras Station. In 2008 a new intercity rail link will be re-established in Corby making Oakley Vale even more accessible.

Oakley Vale has an abundance of open green spaces and a man-made lake with an attractive water cascade. It is convenient too as, adjacent to the development, is a large supermarket and the new village contains a new parade of shops, a pub and restaurant. September 2008 will also see the opening of the first primary school in the new village.

Bellway Northern Home Counties Sales Director, Chris Edginton, said: "Corby is only an hour away by train, via Kettering or Wellingborough from London, and Northamptonshire provides superior choice for businesses, visitors and residents alike. The area is surrounded by beautiful countryside, a rich tradition and heritage and charming stone village. The vast rural landscape is 'quintessentially English' and brimming with character".

Ask about the schemes available to help you move at The Observatory's marketing suite. The showhome is available to view 7 days a week, from 10am to 5pm, telephone 01536 747958 for further information or visit www.bellway.co.uk

*Typical example: Purchase a property valued at £245,500, 80% (£196,400) is payable at the time of purchase. You then pay the other 20% balance at the current market value at the time of repayment which is due on the earlier of sale or remortgage of your home or 10 years from the date of purchase. This is secured by a second mortgage e.g. If the property is sold, or transferred for £150,000 then 20% (£30,000) is payable to Bellway. If the property is sold, or transferred for £100,000 then 20% (£20,000) is payable to Bellway. Interest is payable after 3 years on the initial 20% balance at a rate of 3% (subject to upwards review on an annual index-linked inflationary basis) due in one lump sum at the time of repayment. YOUR HOME MAY BE REPOSSESSED IF YOU DO NOT KEEP UP REPAYMENTS ON A MORTGAGE OR OTHER LOAN SECURED ON IT. BE SURE THAT YOU CAN AFFORD THE REPAYMENTS BEFORE ENTERING INTO A CREDIT AGREEMENT. This offer is available on selected plots only for completion before December 2007 – subject to applicant's status. Prices correct at time of going to press. Subject to Bellway's terms and conditions and any loan arrangements must be made through Bellway Financial Services using a Bellway nominated solicitor. Man accused of using home as drugs den

Council, cops and Drugs Action Team bring civil case for eviction of 55-year-old

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

A 55-YEAR-OLD man has appeared in court as police seek an anti-social eviction order for the first time in Milton Keynes.

Michael Christie, of Harrier Court, Eaglestone, attended Milton Keynes Magistrates' Court on Wednesday for civil proceedings relating to allegations that he was using his home as a drugs house.

Thames Valley Police, MK Council and the Drugs Action Team will apply for a closure order under the Anti-Social Behaviour Act 2003.

A closure order from the court permanently prevents a person from residing at a premises.

Duty solicitor Julian Cross, representing Mr Christie, indicated that his client intended to contest the action.

The case was adjourned until later this month while Mr Christie applies for legal aid.

A closure notice will continue until that time, meaning he can remain at home but anyone who visits the premises will be breaking the law.

Police have increased their presence in the area to reassure residents.

UNPAID carers in Milton Keynes are saving the Government nearly £250 million a year according to a study.

The report by Carers UK identified 17,293 carers in Milton Keynes who provide constant, unpaid care for a family member or friend.

It said they save the state £247.8 million per year.

The findings have been welcomed by MP for Milton Keynes South West, Phyllis Starkey.

Dr Starkey said: "We have long known that unpaid carers play a vital role in our society, providing a community welfare service that we cannot do without.

"This report highlights just how much their work is worth and the importance of the Government's efforts to support them."

Milton Keynes was allocated £90,000 in March to provide emergency support services as part of a Government strategy dubbed the New Deal for Carers.

The support aimed to provide short term, home-based respite for carers in crisis or emergency situations, for example when carers are taken ill.

Carers UK report shows that each carer saves the nation an average of £15,260 annually.

Nationally the value of unpaid support that carers provide has now reached £87 billion a year.

Alcoholic dead in home for 10 days

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

AN alcoholic lay dead in his bungalow for ten days before he was found by a support worker.

The 44-year-old man's mother broke down in tears and rushed from the inquest when she heard the news.

Stephen Ross, from North Ridge, Eaglestone was found dead at his home on Thursday July 5.

A severe alcoholic he also suffered from dystonia, which causes involuntary muscle spasms, depressions.

Mr Ross' worried mother called Yiu-Ken Poon, tenant support officer at Milton Keynes Council, as she had not been able to contact her son for around two weeks.

Mr Poon went to Mr Ross' home and knocked on the door at but received no reply.

"I peered through the letter box and caught sight of the TV in his bedroom, which was on the floor," he said. "Looking around I saw other objects displaced from where they usually are. I glanced over and saw Stephen's hand hanging over the side of the bed."

Mr Poon called the police who forced entry into the property.

Mr Ross was found on his bed in his boxer shorts and there was blood all over the bungalow.

DC Christopher Montgomery, from MK Police said: "There was blood on the kitchen floor and in the bathroom – on the floor and around the toilet basin. In the living room there was a large patch of blood on the carpet and sofa."

A post-mortem has failed to find the cause of death.

Mr Ross, who was born in Mile End, London had four children who live with his ex-wife in Bedford.

He attended the drug and alcohol centre in Netherfield and spent time in detox in 2005, but never beat his alcohol addiction.

He was refused surgery to treat his dystonia and regularly missed doctor appointments.

Coroner Rodney Corner said: "He felt embarrassed and this may be why he wasn't taking advantage of the help that was offered. He seemed to have no self esteem at all. Its a shame as if he had people would have been able to help him."

Verdict: deat by natural causes.

Council's broadband boost

PLANS to provide residents with better access to affordable broadband services have been unveiled.

A council-owned company is to be launched to provide Internet for the city's less well off residents.

Last week Milton Keynes Council's cabinet gave the go-ahead to set up Connect MK Ltd.

The company will work in partnership with provider Pipex.

It will also loan around 1,000 PCs or laptops at £1.50 per week to Milton Keynes residents on benefits and those living in the most deprived areas.

MK Council's vision is to raise the number of households in the city that have access to digital technology from around 60 per cent to 90 per cent.

Councillor Phil Gerrella, cabinet member for information technology and E-Government, said: "Connect MK will provide a modern service for the modern city of Milton Keynes."

Brother wins pop star comp

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A FIFTEEN-YEAR-OLD singer from Bletchley has won the chance to record an original song in a top studio.

The youngster beat hundreds of acts to win the Instant Pop Star online competition, sponsored by Coca Cola.

As reported in MK News last week, Druston D'Mello entered the competition alongside his elder brother Jason.

The brothers, from Sutherland Grove, recorded three songs with the guidance of famous producers Simon Hill and Rob May, who have recorded and toured with bands including JTQ, Kim Wilde, Pet Shop Boys, Westlife and Steps.

The tracks competed with hundreds of others on-line for listeners' votes.

Druston's cover of James Blunt's You're Beautiful was in pole position when the competition closed.

He was in first place for 12 days in a row and received votes from all over the world including America, Australia and Canada.

His original song will be posted online in the Instant Pop Star website's Hall of Fame.

"It is really great to finish number one and I would like to thank MK News and the people of Milton Keynes and internationally for their support.

"The public have helped me achieve my dream to record an original song.

"I am hoping to become a successful pop artist and this could be the start of my career."

Druston and his seventeen-year-old brother Jason attend St Paul's Catholic School in Leadenhall.

They have both been singing since a young age performing in a family band with their dad for nearly seven years.

On-line winner: Druston D'Mello

Homes to be built for Hindu old folk

THE city's Hindu elders have had their own homes built.

Luminus Group has announced the construction of 67 affordable homes in the Broughton area which will be initially offered to older people within the Hindu community on a rent or low cost home ownership basis.

Luminus worked in partnership with Avebury, Milton Keynes Hindu Association, the Housing Corporation, English Partnerships and the Milton Keynes Council.

The £10 million project will be completed in June 2008 and will incorporate a community centre which will be built by Milton Keynes Hindu Association.

The homes will consist of ten two bedroom houses and 507 two bedroom flats, 40 flats and the ten houses will be for low cost home ownership and 17 flats for social rental. Three flats will be adapted to be suitable for wheelchairs.

Luminus Group chief executive Chan Abraham with Milton Keynes councillors Irene Henderson, John Bint and Sam Crooks and Ashok Tosar chairman ofMilton Keynes Hindu Association

Woman bought booze for girls

A WOMAN has been fined after buying alcohol for three under age girls.

Police community support officer Martin Woolly found the girls drinking wine on a street in West Bletchley.

He confiscated the drink and poured it away in front of the girls, who said they had persuaded a stranger outside a local store to buy it for them.

PCSO Woolly went to the store and identified the woman.

The offender, a 19-year-old from Milton Keynes, was fined £80 last week for purchasing alcohol for a person under the age of 18.

The policing team in West Bletchley has been working to tackle anti-social behaviour, which is the number one priority highlighted by local residents. A number of complaints were made about under age drinking so the PCSOs began conducting high visibility patrols and talking to teenagers in the area.

Sergeant Pegg said: "My team is committed to dealing robustly with anti-social behaviour and will investigate anyone we discover has purchased alcohol for under age drinkers."

Primary school is set to grow

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

MIDDLETON Primary School could be enlarged to cope with the demand for more student places.

Proposals have been made to extend the school onto a neighbouring site reserved for education.

Milton Keynes Council cabinet recently decided to run a 12-week consultation on the plans.

The extension would allow the school, which currently has 420 pupils, to take on 30 more children each year.

This would increase its capacity by 210 to a total of 630 places.

The action is being considered as development in the east of Milton Keynes is putting increasing pressure on schools in the area.

A further 1,200 homes have been planned for the Oakgrove Millenium Village, of which 300 will sit in Middleton and 900 in Oakgrove.

This means the original housing estimate of 735 dwellings in Oakgrove has risen to more than 1,900.

Monkston, Middleton and Broughton Fields primary schools are also struggling to cope with higher birth rates than were predicted when they were built.

The council expects all local schools, including the new school to be built in Brooklands, will be full by 2009.

"The present primary school places are not going to be sufficient to meet demand," said Cllr Euan Henderson, cabinet member responsible for school buildings.

Primary concern: Expansion plans at Middleton School will see expected pupil numbers increase to 620

"We looked at building a new school but the only available land was next to Middleton school and we do not need a full 420 place primary school."

Jane Miller, head teacher at Middleton Primary School said she is excited about the proposals.

"I think it would be a good development for the school and the community," she said.

"The school is only three years old and we are nearly full."

The extension is expected to have seven classrooms, a kitchen, a small hall or drama studio and other spaces to support school activities.

The council hopes it will be completed ready for the first additional pupils to join the extra reception class in September 2009

New classes for older year groups will then be opened if and when demand from new housing calls for them.

The council is set to ask schools, parish councils, parents and residents for their views on the proposals.

You can give your views online at www.milton-keynes.gov.uk/schools

Carla gets a grand to sing

A THEATRE student is to perfect her singing voice with a grant from a charity.

The eighteen year-old is using her £1,000 award to fund vocal coaching sessions.

Carla Gallagher-Cusack, from Fenny Stratford, has received the Sir Peter Thompson Award from the Milton Keynes Theatre & Gallery Company.

She was chosen by her A-level drama teacher at St Paul's Catholic School, Leadenhall.

Carla, who lives in Oakwood Drive, hopes to become an actor on the stage.

She is now attending Derby University where she is studying an undergraduate degree in Theatre Arts.

"The money will really help my studies, I feel really lucky because I have never had anything like this before," she said.

"My teachers picked me which means they think I can do well."

The award was presented by Roy Nevitt, chair of Milton Keynes Theatre & Gallery Company, at St Paul's Catholic School's prize giving ceremony on September 19.

COMPETITION

Win a pre-theatre meal

and tickets to see The Producers

SPICE Lounge and MK News have joined forces to offer a first class meal and VIP tickets to the musical-comedy The Producers.

The competition marks the launch of Spice Lounge's pre-theatre dining service, which sees the restaurant open from 5.30pm. Their new early bird menu offers 50 per cent off your meal until 7pm.

We have five VIP packages to give away which start with a two course meal for two.

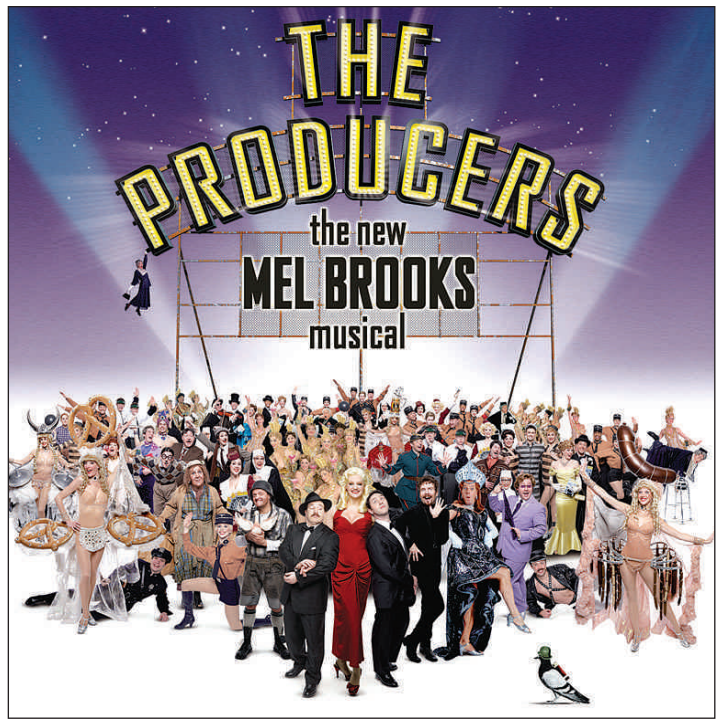
Choose anything you want from Spice Lounge's traditional Indian menu and the head chef will freshly prepare it to your preferred taste.

After your meal, make the short walk to Milton Keynes Theatre where your reserved seats await – the best in the house.

The Producers is at MK Theatre from October 16 to November 3 and stars comedians Joe Pasquale and Russ Abbot.

Down-on-his-luck theatrical producer Max Bialystock and his hapless accountant, Leo Bloom hatch the ultimate theatrical scam. The pair raise more money than they need to produce a surefire disaster and then pocket the left-over cash when the show flops. They turn to the world's worst director, Roger DeBris to make their dream failure a reality.

To book your table at Spice Lounge or find out more call 01908 237400 or visit www.spicelounge.org



HOW TO ENTER

For a chance to win a VIP package tell us which two famous comedians star in The Producers? Answers on a postcard to Spice Lounge competition, MK NEWS, 1 Diamond Court, Fox Milne, MK15 ODU or by email to competitions@mk-news.co.uk

Please include your name, address and daytime telephone numbers. First correct entries drawn win. The editor's decision is final and the closing date is October 16. Winners must redeem their prize between Monday-Thursday and is subject to availability.

DON'T MISS THESE

PHOEBE UNWIN: A SHORT WALK FROM A SHOUT TO A WHISPER

MK Gallery

Until November 4

THIS is the first major exhibition by the British painter.

Unwin's paintings shift between figuration and abstraction.

Throughout her practice, Phoebe Unwin works incessantly in an A3 drawing book, creating a personal register of images and marks. Individual pages are worked up simultaneously creating visual dialogues, some obvious, some obscure as Unwin teases and collages images, shapes and forms from the format of the page and materials at hand in pastel, pencil and acrylic.

This exhibition will be accompanied by an illustrated catalogue with a text by Max Henry.

ALEX FROST: ADULTS

MK Gallery

Until November 4

BRITISH artist Alex Frost works in a variety of media.

This exhibition will present a selection of recent sculptures, drawings and mosaic panels. These reflect Frost's interest in the conflation of modern technology, the serial and the multiple with a distinctive hand-made aesthetic.

His work ranges from the minature to the monumental, from intimate decoration to architectural intervention and locates itself in many differing contexts, the space of the studio, the gallery, wastelands, parks and cultural centres.

Frost's Adults are rock-like sculptures, malformed and enlarged versions of food packaging that are at once sophisticated and clumsy.

KINGDOM
Dave Gahan

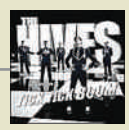
Hey kids! Are you having fun? Yeah? Don't listen to this then, it's no good for you – it's four and a half minutes of relentlessly pounding gloom and misery.

Still, look on the bright side, the daytime radio schedules probably aren't going to touch this song with a 10ft bargepole attached to the end of a 50ft bargepole, and you know it'll never appear on Smash Hits or The Box because, well, let's face it, Dave Gahan's in his mid-40s now and who wants to see someone that old on those channels?

Besides, there's only two verses, two choruses and the instrumental break actually comes at the end of the song – I mean really, where's the sense in that?

Don't these people realise you need to finish the song with either two choruses and a big finish or a straightforward fade out?

No, I'll tell you what kids, you go back to your Scissor Sisters and your Feeling and your James Morrison and leave this sort of music with me. Call me daft if you like, and trust me, you wouldn't be the first, but I rather like this one. In fact, for someone who's supposed to be rapidly approaching middle-age and supposedly settling down and watching Countdown and all that malarky, there's still an awful lot of fire in Mr Gahan's belly.



TICK TICK BOOM
Hives

I'M fairly sure this is one of the bands that time forgot. They first appeared a few years back, with loud, fast guitar-driven tunes and they're still doing exactly the same thing now that they were then.

That doesn't stop the song being any good – this is one of their better singles – but I'm a little disappointed that their sound hasn't moved on, at least it hasn't on the evidence of this. I

CROCODILE
Underworld

The first time I heard this I hated it. Absolutely hated it. It just sounded so bland.

The second time I heard it I thought it was incredibly average.

The third time I heard it I thought it was OK, nothing special.

Ever since then, my opinion of this song has improved slightly, and that must mean that this song is what we in the business call a 'grower'.

Now, you may question my music credentials, but I'll have you know I've personally sold thousands of albums. Bet you're impressed now. Mind you, to be fair anybody else who's ever worked in a record shop will be able to say the same thing but there you go, it's not what you've done, it's how you spin it that matters.

Right then, back to Underworld, and as I said earlier, I really didn't like this to begin with. It was mellow, meandering, and it sounded out-dated. Was this really the same band that produced Rez, Moaner and that one from Trainspotting?

Well, as it turned out, yes, because a few listens in it all suddenly made sense.

I can't really explain it, which is annoying seeing as I'm meant to, but it was one of those: 'Oh, now I see what they're up to' moments. Will that do?

It'll have to.

Yes, it's mellow, but it slowly gets to you and ends up sticking in your head like a pitchfork. Probably won't be a big hit, which is a shame, because something as well crafted as this thoroughly deserves to be huge, if only to show the likes of Ultrabeat how dance music is really done.

PARKLIFE

Enjoy the fruits of nature's labour

AS nature gets ready for this year's big sleep it has a final burst of activity to reveal a stunning display of jewelled green, red, golden and russet leaves.

Follow nature's lead and enjoy the sights and sounds of autumn. Get out in your local park and experience a rush of colourful leaves, fruit and berries as trees shake off their green mantle and display their autumnal finery.

Rustle your way through a woodland walk and collect leaves of different shapes and sizes.

Milton Keynes has a great variety of trees, and in total has around 22 million to choose from.

Look out for Norway maple leaves they turn vibrant shade of red and orange. Collect acorns from mighty oaks, its leaves and acorns turn golden brown and provide food for many small mammals over the winter months.

As well as the scarlet leaves of the horse chestnut tree, pick up its spiky fruit to reveal a treasure trove of conkers.

Rich in colour, the season is also bountiful in fruit, the hedgerows bear berries to fuel the flight of birds and insects and allow small mammals, such as dormice to hibernate over the worst winter months. Look out for blackberries, red hawthorn berries and ivy berries.

Ivy is a great source of food for birds as its berries mature over the winter, providing nourishment when birds need it most.

Autumn is also the best time to spot fungi.

Throughout the summer it grows secretly underground and pushes up through the earth to create bright and often bizarre shapes and patterns.

Fungi are great at recycling nutrients in the soil whilst providing food for insects and small rodents.

However, remember to look but don't touch some types of fungi can be poisonous.

While nature provides food for wildlife it can also provide for us too – take advantage of one of The Parks Trust's orchards at Woughton-on-the-Green.

This community orchard has many old English varieties of apple that are free for anyone to harvest.

From their 'something special' menu we tried the Meat Eater, with pepperoni, spicy beef, ham, chicken and salami, and the Vegi Fantastic with fresh garlic, onion, olives, peppers, aubergine and herbs.

The pizzas were thick and juicy with plenty of topping and a nice crunchy crust.

We were also impressed by the choice of toppings provided on the menu.

Charity experience sees firm's second Dragon sponsor term

SIX months ago, E4Bs sales and marketing director Graham Paul was looking for a suitable charity for the company to support.

The business was growing at an extraordinary pace and was keen to put something back into the community by supporting a worthy cause.

But Graham was adamant that this worthy cause would be a local charity and one whose profile could benefit greatly from increased local exposure as well as the funds generated by local charitable events.

Following an exhaustive search, E4B chose Keech Cottage, a charity providing palliative care and support for terminally ill children and their families.

Although Luton-based Keech's operative area covers Beds, Herts and Bucks it is currently offering care and support to some 22 terminally ill children as well as their families in Milton Keynes alone.

However, limited resources and the absence of public funds had restricted the promotion of the charity within the confines of the Luton area.

Keech's association with E4B has changed things beyond all expectation.

E4B quickly got to work by becoming the key sponsor of this year's annual Dragon Boat Festival and nominated Keech Cottage as the beneficiary of the lion's share of funds raised by this charitable event.

As a result a total of £15,000 was raised for Keech, including just under £2,000 which was raised by E4Bs participation in the Dragon Boat Race and other internal initiatives.

Perhaps most important of all is putting Keech on the Milton Keynes map.

Commenting in a letter of gratitude to E4B, Sue Clarke, corporate fundraising manager said, 'You have given us a very significant leap into the Milton Keynes corporate arena for which we are eternally grateful'.

Graham Paul insists that the relationship is not all one way:

'Our staff have been greatly motivated by the experience and we have a full calendar of events going forward into 2008; including a skydive which is due to take place this month. Participating in activities for such a worthy cause helps bond our team together and alleviate the stress of working in such a fast-paced environment'.

E4Bs ongoing support for the deserving cause of Keech Cottage means it has made the commitment to being the main sponsor of the Milton Keynes Dragon Boat Festival event in 2008.

With far more time to prepare for next year, it is expected to be a record-breaking event and Keech's new found corporate opportunities in Milton Keynes is likely to further enhance the money raised at Willen Lake.

Employee fraud has become a multi-million pound 'business'

BUSINESSES are currently facing staggering losses of almost £4 million a day from fraud in the UK and are increasingly turning to lawyers to help recover their lost money.

This is the view of Shoosmiths commercial litigation partner John Hill.

Speaking after a recent independent survey had revealed a 40 per cent increase in reported business fraud in the UK last year, which took the total sum lost to around £1.37 billion, John said that size was no protection for companies when it came to fraud.

He said: "Employee fraud is now one of the largest problems that UK businesses have to face, and the problem is escalating.

"Some of the most vulnerable sectors are recruitment, where we have seen many cases of temporary workers falsifying timesheets, as well as IT, where there have been problems with wholesale fraud."

Mr Hill, a partner in the national law firm's Milton Keynes dispute resolution unit, highlighted the case of an IT company which uncovered a wholesale fraud where one of its distributors was fabricating sales figures and claiming rebates, which amounted to company losses of more than £1 million.

He added: "Surveys have identified a staggering increase in reported business fraud. Last year it equated to around £3.75 million a day and is probably only the tip of the iceberg, as the vast majority of business fraud is not reported to the police.

"I advise our clients to act quickly in terms of gathering evidence. It is important not to alert the fraudster to the fact that you are on their trail until you have sufficient evidence in place. As soon as the evidence is available, it is then a matter of taking a very robust approach. A direct threat of legal proceedings frequently leads to a successful outcome with some sort of recovery."

John said there was no right answer for the best tactic to recover lost funds. Each case merited a different bespoke solution but often the civil route as opposed to a criminal prosecution resulted in a quicker recovery and allowed the client involved to have more control over the process.

He set out a key strategy for businesses to stop themselves falling victim to fraudsters, including creating an anti-fraud culture where whistle-blowers were happy to come forward.

"We advise companies to tighten internal procedures to clarify the amounts that have been claimed from them and keep electronic evidence as this will help to support any potential claims.

"Be proactive with regular checks, particularly for 'ghost' employees and contractors, and issue legal proceedings for the amounts fraudulently obtained."

John said: "At the outset of fighting fraud within the business arena, companies may find that on a case by case basis they incur costs that outweigh the current value of the fraud. We believe however, that what you are really investing in is the message to fraudsters and potential fraudsters, that fraud of any level will not be accepted. It is particularly the case for recruitment agencies that tend to have a low value, high volume problem. If a business has a reputation for zero tolerance, it is likely to deter the opportunistic fraudster."

The independent survey in reported fraud was carried out by accountants BDO Stoy Hayward.

Conditions of Advertising LSN Media (the publisher)

GENERAL
1. The publisher reserves the right to omit or suspend any advertisement even though accepted and paid for and to make any alterations necessary to maintain standards of the newspaper. The publisher also declines responsibility for the omission of a single advertisement or one or more of a series of advertisements from any cause whatsoever, nor do they accept liability for any loss or damage caused by an error or inaccuracy in the printing of an advertisement. (Advertisers are advised to check their advertisement after the insertion). No re-insertions refund or adjustment will be made where an error, mis-print or omission does not materially detract from the advertisement. The Publisher may at its sole discretion re-insert the whole or part of the advertisement with corrections or refund part or the whole value of the advertisement.
2. The publisher reserves the right to decline any advertisement without giving an explanation or which they deem the content unsuitable for publication, whether an order has been accepted or not. The publisher will not accept orders for advertisements which it deems offensive or defamatory or which infringe the Trades Description Act 1968 and The British Code of Advertising Standards Authority on such matters.
3. An order for advertising services placed by an advertiser or an advertising agency on behalf of an advertiser constitutes an assurance that necessary authorisation or permission has been granted in respect of the use of the advertisement itself, pictorial representation of a living person, references made and words attributed to a living person and text which may be the subject of copyright protection.
4. Printed conditions on advertisement orders will not be recognised as binding unless expressly accepted in writing by the publishers.
5. Advertising rates involving a series, volume or prepayment discount are expressly for the use of the advertiser concerned and are not to divulged to a third party.
6. All artwork designed by the LSN Studio remains the property of LSN Media. Where artwork services are provided, it is on the understanding that it is for the sole use in any of the LSN Media publications unless prior agreement is sought, any unauthorised reproduction will result in a charge being levied on the publisher concerned.
7. Proofs of advertisements are provided upon request but cannot be guaranteed. Where a proof is supplied, the onus is on the recipient to check that all information is correct and to provide the publisher with any neccesary alterations or amendments before the expiration of the deadline. The publisher will not accept responsibility for errors in any advertisement where a proof is supplied and subsequently authorised for publication.
8. Although every effort will be made to meet advertisers requirements, specified positions cannot be guaranteed within the newspaper.
9. All advertisements which carry a premium telephone number must comply with the Code of Practice of The Independent Committee for the supervision of Standards of Telephone Information Services (CSTIS).
10. The advertiser (or his advertising agency) shall indemnify the publisher in respect of all costs, damages or any other charges as the result of legal action or the threat of legal action arising from the publisher of a single advertisement for a series of advertisements, published in accordance with copy instructions supplied to the publisher in pursuance of the advertiser or his advertising agency's order.
11. If an advertisement does not appear due to copy or artwork being supplied after the agreed deadline, the space will be payable in full at the published rates.
12. A request to insert an advertisement assumes acceptance of our Terms & Conditions of Advertising.

DISTRIBUTION
1. Unless otherwise stated, distribution will normally take place within the specified publication to the individual addresses which usually receive the publication within the area and on the date scheduled. This does not necessarily imply 100% delivery to all addresses within the area.
2. The publisher shall not be liable for total or partial non delivery of any publication in which an advertisement is scheduled to appear and no reinsertion, refund or adjustment will be made to the advertiser.

BOX NUMBERS
While every endeavour will be made to forward replies to box numbers to the advertiser as soon as possible, no liability will be accepted by the publisher in respect of any loss, damage or delay in forwarding such replies.

CANCELLATION
1. Cancellation of advertisements must be advised 24 hours prior to the booking deadline. If the publisher is unable to resell the space he reserves the right to charge for any loss of revenue incurred.
2. If any advertiser in receipt of a series, volume or prepayment discount cancels before fulfilling the terms of the agreed order, the publisher reserves the right to make a surcharge up to the full published rates for the type of advertisement.
3. Queries concerning cancelled advertisements must be accompanied by the stop number given at the time of cancellation.

PAYMENT
1. Credit facilities are at the discretion of the publisher, but such facilities are limited to strict terms of 30 days. Late payment of account may lead to suspension of account facilities. Any discount which the publisher may have agreed with the advertiser may be forfeit should the advertiser fail to meet the agreed credit terms.
2. Prepaid accounts must be settled by no later than the two days prior to publication. The publisher reserves the right to suspend any advertisement where payment has not been received.
3. Dishonoured cheques will incur a £20 administration fee. All rates are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time of any advertisement is booked to appear. Recognised advertising agency is 10%

PREVIEWS

LINCOLN CITY
League Two
Sunday, October 14. KO 1.30pm stadium:mk

THIS fixture last year was arguably one of the games of the season and with that in mind the game has been moved to Sunday to be broadcast live on SKY.

When Lincoln last came to town the match had all sorts of drama with a red card for the visitors, the Dons missing two penalties before staging a late come back to snatch a draw through Gareth Edds' injury time strike.

This time round the Imps are sitting at the wrong end of the table and struggling to find their form with only two wins in ten games.

In those games they have scored ten goals, Louis Dodds is their top scorer with three goals to his name, but the Imps have kept just one clean sheet.

The form guide reflects both sides positions with the Dons sitting at the top and the Imps at a lowly second from bottom.

There is plenty of competition for places in midfield with the fit again Colin Cameron set to challenge Alan Navarro for a place alongside Keith Andrews.

The Dons strike force will be boosted by the return of Leon Knight who will be back in contention following his one-match suspension.

MIKE Dove was impressed to see his under-18s fight from three goals down to be narrowly beaten 4-3 by Leicester.

The Foxes had an electric start, hitting the back of the net three times in 11 minutes to deal a massive blow to the Dons.

But a determined fightback from Dove's men saw Dan Powell score either side of the Foxes fourth before Sam Baldock, on his return from injury, pulled the Dons back to within a goal.

Despite their best efforts the Dons could not find the leveller and Dove was pleased with their effort.

He said: "I came away from the game buzzing, it was a very positive performance and a real learning day."

PAUL Ince narrowly missed out on the manager of the month award to Paul Fairclough.

Prior to the award the Dons boss had guided his side to five wins in six games, and taken them to the top of the table.

But Fairclough was given the award for Barnet's three victories and two draws from their five league games.

Other contenders were Rochdale's Keith Hill and Wycombe's Paul Lambert.

BOTH Drissa Diallo and Keith Andrews made it into the League Two Team of the Week.

Following another fine display at right-back Diallo earned his first Team of the Week accolade this season, while Andrews earns his fifth after grabbing his seventh goal.

League Two Team of the Week: John Danby (Chester), Drissa Diallo (MK Dons), Paul Butler (Chester), Thomas Kennedy (Rochdale), Tim Ryan (Darlington), Luke Webb (Hereford), Keith Andrews (MK Dons), Toumani Diagouraga (Hereford), Jason Puncheon (Barnet), Adam Rooney (Chesterfield), Adam Birchall (Barnet).

Acrobatic: One of Drissa Diallo's overhead kicks led to Danny Swailes goal

WHEN you're sat at the top of the table you discover teams will do anything to knock you off your perch, including stifling the game.

That is what MK Dons have learnt of late with both Darlington and Bradford coming to Milton Keynes with the plan of leaving with a point.

But the Dons were more than prepared for Bradford's tactics at stadium:mk and were able to grind out a 2-1 win.

The Bantams clearly did not hear about the problems Mansfield Town caused Paul Ince's side with their all-out attacking mindset, so instead they opted to sit behind the ball with the hope of gaining something from the game with the odd counter-attacking spell.

Several chances fell to the Dons in the opening ten minutes including a header from Danny Swailes that smashed the near post, but they could not find the route through.

For all of their possession and dominance in the first half the Dons could have been a goal down when David Wetherall had a goal disallowed for a push in the box.

That was Bradford's main chance in the first half and they could have been deemed lucky to be going in at half time on level terms with the missfiring Dons.

The visitors often appeared shy going forward while remaining stubborn at the back but after frustrating for well over an hour their legs began to tire, the Dons found cracks in their defence and when the first goal did come it was one well worth waiting for.

Once again it was Keith Andrews who found himself in the right place and the right time to round off a superb team effort.

An inch-perfect delivery from Dean Lewington allowed Aaron Wilbraham to find space before pulling the ball back to Andrews, who was hovering on the edge of the box.

The skipper found the net, for the seventh time this season, with a beautifully struck effort.

Danny Swailes added the Dons' second when he poked in the rebound off Drissa Diallo's overhead-kick.

A 2-0 victory would have been a fair reflection on the game, but the Bantams were given a consolation goal in the final minute of injury time when Barry Conlon converted a late penalty.

Assistant manager Ray Mathias felt the Dons deserved the win and praised his side for continuing to work hard late in the game.

He said: "It would have been easier if we'd have scored from the chances we had in the first 20 minutes, it probably would have opened up the game a little bit more.

"They came here for a point, it made it very difficult for us. We had to be patient, which we were, once they opened up we scored the goal, we could have won by a lot more.

"Everybody's worked tirelessly and we've got the result we wanted."

Six wins on the bounce keeps the Dons two points clear at the top and Mathias added: "We're happy with what we're doing, the results are going fine at the moment and we can't ask for anything more from the players."

PAUL MITCHELL WRITES FOR YOU

PAUL MITCHELL

I KNOW, I know it's still early but once again Sunday's paper made a great read. It certainly looks as if even the national papers are taking notice of our fantastic run of form. Plus with the match on Sunday on Sky television the publicity can only be good for the club.

Saturday's game was no different than I expected.

We are going to have to get used to teams coming to stadium:mk and setting up their tactics to frustrate and try to hold on for a point.

This is a massive sign of respect in my eyes and shows how highly we are thought of in this league.

Saying that, those tactics haven't exactly worked out for the teams that have tried them as our quality has come through and we have kept our run going.

Sometimes not with the free-flowing football that we have come accustomed to this season, but with solid performances and each player giving a 100 per cent.

This is what good teams and players do.

It's a well known fact that, as a player, you have off days where nothing seems to go right. But when these days happen you can still work hard and make sure the player you're up against has one of those days too. If this carries on we will definitely win a lot more games than we lose.

Last night we will have played our first Johnstone's Paint Trophy game but, with no disrespect intended to the competition, our priority this year is the league.

There is a new rule this year where you have to start the match with six of the team that have started most games in the league. In my opinion, the players have a long and gruelling enough season.

This Sunday's game is against Lincoln who have had a tough start to their campaign but they're not a team to be taken lightly, having got to the play-offs in the last four seasons .

But just because the game is on television this isn't a chance to sit at home, it's a chance to show the footballing world what fantastic support and atmosphere we have at stadium:mk.

So let's raise the roof!

See you all then.

Lions lose out in final ten thriller

MK Lions 100

Guildford Heat 106
(Aaron 20, Martin 20, Dux 16)

MK Lions lost their undefeated tag as they were narrowly beaten by Guildford Heat in a thrilling game.

Both the Lions and Guildford had a 100 per cent record going into the game but a strong final quarter saw the BBL Champions clinch the points.

The Lions, without Robert Youngblood and Ronnie Baker, were taken back when Guildford opened a quick 9-3 lead before Tony Windless hit seven and Kevin Griffin added back-to-back threes to put the home side 20-13 in front.

After calling a time-out Guildford pulled twithin two points at the quarter's end.

The battle between Nerijus Karlikanovas and Shawn Jamison took centre stage in the second with both players exchanging baskets.

Yorick Williams and Griffin joined in but a late basket on the buzzer reduced the Lions' lead to 52-50 at the half.

Carlton Aaron was the only Guildford scorer in the first three minutes of the third as the Lions edged to 60-54, but then Daniel Gilbert landed two three pointers either side of Aaron' basket.

With neither side wanting to drop points the scores were tied at 81, setting up a pulsating final ten minutes.

Brian Dux landed one of two free throws while Tony Dorsey created a 9-2 run but the Lions had the perfect response with Mike New landing a 15ft jump shot.

The Lions held on for much of the final quarter until Mike Martin's three pointer gave Guildford the edge two minutes from time. When the Lions were called for an unsportsmanlike foul, Dux calmly sank four free throws to seal the win.

■ On Friday the Lions travel to Sheffield Sharks for their 7.30pm tip-off before hosting Scottish Rocks on Sunday. Tip-off is at 4pm.

Weekend double puts Lightning up to fourth

IT was a good weekend for MK Lightning as they got one over local rivals Peterborough Phantoms and convincingly beat Guildford Flames in the EPL Cup.

On Saturday they played host to Guildford, but made sure their guests were not made to feel too welcome as they slotted four goals past them in the first period.

Guildford, the defending champions, stumbled out of the starting blocks as Lightning made them pay for early errors

A solo Gary Clarke goal got the score rolling with Finnish forward Toni Alasaarela adding Lightning's second after five minutes.

Adam Radmall then took advantage of a power play by finding the back of the net before Alasaarela rounded off the first period with an unassisted goal to give Lightning a 4-0 lead.

While Guildford were looking for a way back into the game, Lightning stepped up the pressure as Alasaarela netted his hattrick and then his fourth of the game shortly after.

A six goal cushion allowed Lightning to ease of slightly in the final period, but the luck was not with Guildford and as they hit the post at one end, Ales Parez completed a dominant game with the seventh unanswered Lightning goal.

Sunday's match against Peterborough proved a lot more testing.

Lightning had already missed out on bragging rights between the two, with the Phantom's mascot finishing higher than MK's Pucky in the earlier meeting at the Mascot Grand National.

There was not much separating the two sides, as they cancelled each other out in the opening period.

The possibility of overtime and penalty shots increased as the game remained scoreless going into the final period.

But Lightning pulled it out of the bag five minutes from time as Parez and Michael Wales posted two goals, before Ross Bowers scored to give them a 3-0 victory.

Lightning are now up to fourth place in the league, just two points behind top of the table Bracknell Bees.

■ On Saturday Lightning travel to Swindon for the 5.45pm face-off, before hosting them at Planet Ice on Sunday. Face-off is at 6pm.

Red Bull left tyred and frustrated

THE most enthralling and controversial Formula One season will go right down to the wire at the final race in Brazil with everything, including Red Bull's position in the constructors championship, still to be decided.

Lewis Hamilton, Fernando Alonso and Kimi Raikkonen all have the chance to clinch the world championship.

Red Bull have been concentrating on finishing with a bang and with David Coulthard qualifying in the Chinese Grand Prix in fifth place, his highest position in almost three years, the team were hoping for a podium finish, but a bad tyre choice saw him finish the race in eighth.

Red Bull have made vast improvements of late and it speaks volumes that they are disappointed to come away with a point when two months ago they would have been delighted.

Webber, who had accused championship leader Hamilton of erratic driving in the Japanese Grand Prix – something the Brit was later cleared of, struggled and once he was overtaken by Heikki Kovalainen he could only hold on to tenth.He said: "I had massive understeer on my wet tyres in the first stint.

"It was a tough call to know if wet or dry tyres were best. Unfortunately, we didn't quite get it right today."

With Webber out of the running for points it was left to Coulthard to cling on to the final points position to keep Red Bull four points behind Williams.

A frustrated Coulthard said: "To start fifth and finish eighth is pretty disappointing."

PLAYED five, won five means Olney have extended their stay at the top of the Southern Counties North league.

Will Edwards was the stand out player for Will Edwards with two tries and two conversions, will Rhys Peakman kept up his good form of late with two tries of his own.

Paul Weatherup grabbed the last try for Olney as they ran out the 29-10 winners.

MK are in sixth place following their stunning six-try come back against Beaconsfield.

It was a tough first half for both sides with Mike Dean's penalty the only score for MK as they trailed 6-3 at the break.

An inspired second half saw six different MK players cross the line, Beaconsfield did manage to reply with two tries but MK picked up the points with the 46 - 20 victory.

BLETCHLEY are continuing to struggle in the West Two East Division, as they slipped to their fourth defeat.

Reading Abbey, just one place above bottom of the table Bletchley, were the stronger side throughout. Fly-half Phil Harman was the only Bletchley scorer, with two penalties, as his side lost 28-6.

Stand-in comes good

MK driver Supradip Dey Roy claimed more points in the British Rally Championship Stars 1400 Championship as he finished Saturday's Trackrod All-Stars Rally.

Roy and co-driver Bradley Magnus, who was a last minute stand-in for regular navigator Max Hall, brought home their 1400cc MG ZR sixth overall and third in class S1 in the penultimate round of the series.

Following the weekend's result, Roy is now fourth in the overall drivers' championship standings and maintains his second place in the FIA Class table following a consistent run of results this season.

Johnstone's Paint Trophy 2nd Round

BY SIMONE CORGAN

simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

MK Dons dumped local rivals Peterborough United out of the Johnstone's Paint Trophy last night with a stunning 3-1 victory.

The Dons fought their way back from a goal down to seal a place in the quarter finals.

It was Mark Wright, on his return from injury, who sparkled in the win as he grabbed two goals either side of the break before Colin Cameron rounded off the scoring late in the game.

While Posh had played their part in an entertaining cup game at stadium:mk, their chances of coming back were effectively ended when Charlie Lee was forced off through injury and, having made three substitutes, the visitors were forced to play the final 15 minutes with ten men.

Both sides set the tone in the opening spell with chances falling at either end.

The most notable came from a great piece of skill from Aaron McLean who, on the turn, fired a low drive for Willy Gueret to palm away.

Having shown promise early on McLean found the back of the net on the 16th minute.

A quick break from the Posh saw Rene Howe play a neat through ball and McLean danced through the Dons' box to drive the ball past the advancing Gueret.

But the Dons found their reply just ten minutes later when Jemal Johnson was released on the counter-attack.

The pacey striker, on his first start for the Dons, quickly showed the Peterbough defence a clean set of heels as he embarked on a lengthy run down the left before playing a dream cross into the path of Wright.

With all the hard work done the winger calmly slotted in to the far corner.

The Dons' speed provide a real threat to Posh, something Bally Smart showed just before the interval.

The young Norwich-loanee picked up the ball just inside his own half, skipped past Chris Whelpdale and then produced a cheeky flick-on to Johnson, but his flashing shot sailed wide.

On the restart the Dons bombed forward and Smart could have put them in the lead when he burst through the middle only to see his 15-yard strike pick up a deflection and rise over the bar.

At the other end Posh were left to rue a missed chance when Howe could and should have put them in front with a powerful header that skimmed just wide of the post.

The Dons were quick to punish Darren Ferguson's side for the error as Wright grabbed his second of the evening, this time he collected a cross from the right and slammed his shot past Shwan Jalal.

Howe again looked Posh's most threatening player when he breezed through the Dons' defence, but the alert Gueret went low to end his run.

Johnson could have made it 3-1 to the Dons, one on one with Jalal he chose to try and chip the goalie, it proved to be the wrong decision for the striker as the ball was collected with ease.

But five minutes from time Cameron put the result beyond doubt when he poked in a simple tap-in from Scott Taylor's cross.

Recyclers rewarded with Cash for Trash

MILTON KEYNES COUNCIL

recycle for Milton Keynes

MK residents show it pays to recycle

TWENTY lucky households are celebrating having their recycling efforts rewarded, thanks to the innovative Cash for Trash promotion.

Each week since the launch of the Cash for Trash promotion in June this year, Milton Keynes Council (MKC) has rewarded a recycling household.

The scheme that launched during Recycle Now Week on 4th June is set to run for a whole year and aims to encourage residents in Milton Keynes to recycle more.

Every week an MK property is selected at random.

Horizon Radio's Captain Green visits that property on recycling collection day: if they are recycling correctly they win a prize of at least £100.

This scheme is run as a partnership between MKC and its contractors Community Waste (who donated the prize money) to get more materials processed at the council's Materials Recycling Facility (MRF).

In addition to regular £100 prizes, John Lewis donated a Play Station 3 and Ikea gave £200 worth of vouchers for their MK store.

Paul Mocroft, Waste Reduction Officer at the council accompanies Captain Green on his early morning missions.

Paul said, "it's great to be able to knock on someone's door, see their reaction to a man wearing a green lycra superhero suit and then give them £100! It's really satisfying to be able to make someone's day with a great prize simply for recycling."

The Recycling Team held a special event at the MRF at the end of September to give the winners a chance to see what happens to their recycling once it's been collected.

The Mayor of Milton Keynes, Cllr Mike Barry, attended the event and helped present the current week's winner Tracey March with a bonus cheque for £250!

Cllr Douglas McCall, cabinet member responsible for recycling, is pleased with how much more Milton Keynes is recycling this year compared to last year.

Cllr McCall said: 'In the three months since Cash for Trash launched our recycling has increased by a massive 26% compared to the same period last year.

"While this may not be all down to the new scheme the chance to win at least £100 cash is a great incentive."

"We look forward to giving out many more prizes and plan a massive Christmas windfall. All people need to do to be in with a chance of winning is recycle!"

More information about Cash for Trash, including a full list of the rules is available at www.milton-keynes.gov.uk/cashfortrash.

Wedding bonus

A £250 prize couldn't have come at a better time for bonus winner Tracey March from Tattenhoe: she's getting married! Originally from Norfolk, Tracey and her fiancé are planning a Spring wedding. Tracey says, "we've already got most of the day organised but this extra £250 will help us pay for our special day."

Tracey receives her prize.

‘Cash for Trash’ prize winners

Over the past few months Milton Keynes Council’s Recycling Team and Captain Green have knocked on many doors to find people in their dressing gowns, wondering why there’s a man in a strange green outfit looking at their recycling!

To encourage more and more people to recycle the Cash for Trash initiative was born. Here are some of the winners since the campaign started in the summer.

RECYCLING paid off in a big way for Fishermead resident Marcus Ali after he won £200 worth of Ikea vouchers and energy-saving goodies.

Furniture store Ikea and department store John Lewis have donated prizes to support this green initiative.

Mark Gould from the local John Lewis store said, “As a responsible retailer the John Lewis Partnership is committed to minimising its impact on the environment”

“We’re really pleased to be able to work with Milton Keynes Council on this exciting reward scheme to increase recycling in the area.”

Recycling Facts

- If all the aluminium drinks cans sold in the UK were recycled, there would be fourteen million fewer full dustbins per year.
- The UK has more than 50,000 bottle banks.
- Every year, the average dustbin contains enough unrealised energy for 500 baths, 3,500 showers or 5,000 hours of television.
- Every steel can is 100% recyclable. It can be recycled over and over again into products like bicycles and of course new cans.
- We use 12.5 million tonnes of paper and cardboard every year in the UK.
- It takes just twenty-five two litre pop bottles to make one adult size fleece jacket.
- Rotting waste in landfill produces methane, a greenhouse gas over twenty times more potent than carbon dioxide.
- MKC will spend over £4 million sending waste to landfill this year.
- Landfill tax is set to double over the next three years, from £24 to £48 a tonne.

Easy way to recycle your unwanted electrical goods

Electrical appliance recycling facility

RESIDENTS are being urged to switch-on to electrical recycling following new laws introduced in July to make this a lot easier.

Since then all Milton Keynes Council (MKC) Community Recycling Centres have special bins to accept unwanted electrical goods from residents following a European directive to remove this waste from landfill.

Manufacturers and retailers now have a duty to take back electrical goods for reuse or recycling, (under the Waste Electrical and Electronic Equipment (WEEE) directive), or pay for the council to collect them at the Community Recycling Centre.

Yet in a recent survey conducted by Comet more than half of people had never recycled electrical products and one in five still did not know you could.

So here are some simple steps for residents to follow so they can do their bit to recycle electrical goods:

1. Check to see if your retailer is involved in the take-back scheme (see opposite) and will dispose of your unwanted electrical products when making a replacement purchase.
2. If not take your electrical goods to a Community Recycling Centre (listed right).
3. At the centre you will find a number of skips to sort your goods into product types.
4. The skips divided as follows: cooling appliances (fridges etc), large household (washing machines etc), display equipment (TVs etc), gas discharge lights (fluorescent) and small electrical (toasters kettles etc).

MKC Waste Operations Manager Chris Carvell said: "We have dedicated skips in place and have made sure we have arrangements to recycle and dispose of the electrical waste correctly."

Cllr Douglas McCall, council cabinet member responsible for environment, said, "we urge all residents to dispose of their unwanted electrical items responsibly by returning them to retailers involved in the take-back scheme or by dropping them off at Community Recycling Centres. Electrical waste such as old mobile phones and computers are the fastest growing area for waste so it is important we all recycle these unwanted products to help cut the cost of landfill to us all."

40 years of recycling

Tony Mills at the wheel of a reycling vehicle

As Milton Keynes celebrates its 40th birthday year, the council is hoping to reach a green milestone by recycling 40% of its household waste.

Milton Keynes currently recycles and composts around 36% of its waste and needs all residents to help increase this in order to reduce the amount of money spent on landfill: over £4 million this year alone.

Paul Mocroft in the council's Recycling Team decided to find out how waste recycling has changed over the past forty years through the eyes of one of the council's longest serving employees, Tony Mills, affectionately nicknamed 'Old un' by his work colleagues.

Life In Grime

Wolverton born and bred Tony 'Old un' Mills started working for the council, when Milton Keynes was just another local village. As a fresh faced youth Tony's first day at work at the council (then Wolverton Urban District Council) was 1st January 1956.

He spent twenty-eight years working as a driver and loader on a refuse collection vehicle.

He has seen many changes on collections over the years. "In the early days, you had to collect the old steel dustbin from each house, carry it over your shoulder to the vehicle, then return the empty bin back where you found it," Tony recalls.

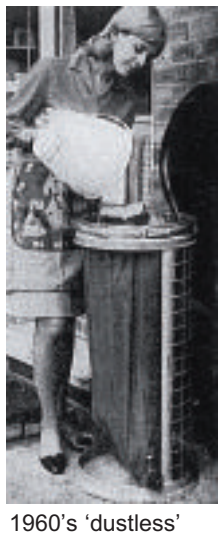
"The job was much harder then: a bin weighed 28lbs when it was empty!"

Lifting steel dustbins

"Although we had heavy donkey jackets this didn't stop dust and ash from coal fires getting in your face or liquids running down your back."

Since then modern health and safety regulations have made many improvements to working conditions.

Tony added: "We never used to carry first aid kits. If you cut yourself you would knock on someone's door and they would help you out: the residents looked after you and you looked after them."



1960's 'dustless' refuse collection

The late sixties saw the first major change in rubbish collections when metal bins were lined with disposable paper and later plastic bags. This had quite an impact on the design of MK homes as many were built with bin cupboards in which to store their refuse sacks.

Even though residents were recycling some items such as glass (getting money back for returning bottles to the shop) and paper, other items were still being landfilled.

In 1967, the year that Milton Keynes was commissioned, the Civic Amenities Act introduced the first "CA" sites, now known as Community Recycling Centres, where people could take their bulky furniture waste.

Also the emergence of plastic packaging led to refuse collection vehicles being fitted with compactors.

MK constructed the UK's first purpose-built Materials Recycling Facility

Tony recalls collecting refuse from the back alleys in Wolverton, "we had one particular alleyway that I always remember collecting from. It was only just wide enough to get the vehicle down and I had to reverse in. Most importantly though, we had to make sure that we lifted the lines of washing over the lorry otherwise you'd get earache from the angry housewives in the street!"

Paul Mocroft said: "In many ways, we face similar problems as 40 years ago. In 1967 the amount of waste was predicted to double in volume over the next twenty years; it did."

"Today the amount of waste we produce is expected to double in weight over the next twenty years unless we do something about it."

Tony is no longer driving refuse and recycling vehicles for the council but can still be seen working for Cory Environmental as a street sweeper.

Paul says, "If you see him out and about, be sure to thank him for all the hard work he's put in for Milton Keynes over the past 40 years. He is one of the city's unsung heroes".
